

Providing Technology Solutions

Challenge

The client needed to hire 10-15 people within 60 days to meet a high priority project deadline, so the ideal solution was a vendor experienced with delivering Software Engineers (product development – Cloud, Mobile, Web) in a timely manner without sacrificing quality. That is why the client turned to INSPYR Solutions, a trusted technology solutions partner.

Solution

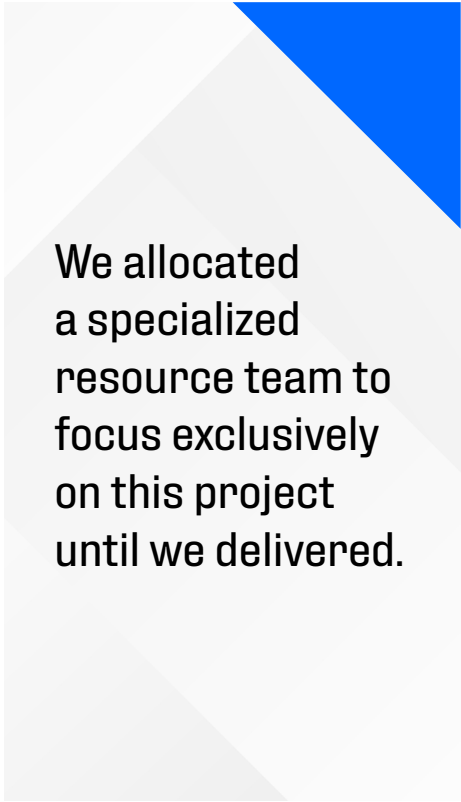

As the client was comprised of multiple operating entities, the client leadership's goal was to unite these operations in order to enable them to leverage their strengths and deliver more innovative solutions to customers. The first phase of this transformation included development of a highly scalable cloud-based integrated application platform for the software that powered the client's products and services.

Based on relationships and past performance, the client asked if INSPYR Solutions could help with the conversion to the cloud. Understanding the urgency of the client's need to adhere to an aggressive timeline, INSPYR Solutions relocated one of our most tenured resources to sit on-site and help facilitate the hiring and onboarding process. We also allocated a specialized resource team to focus exclusively on this project until we delivered.
